JA Assure Masterclass: Why Standard Commercial Property Fails Jewellers

Most luxury jewellers, diamond merchants, and bespoke goldsmiths in Southeast Asia mistakenly assume their general Commercial All-Risk or Shop Insurance covers their daily operations.

In reality, standard property policies contain severe exclusionary clauses:

1. Off-Premises & Transit Void: If you are not finished pieces leave the shop for an exhibition (e.g. CTPL) private client

Automatically audited against MAS Advertising Rules before release.

SYNTHESIZED EXECUTIVE SYNOPSIS

Many luxury jewellers operate under the misconception that standard commercial property policies protect their high-value inventory during transit, exhibitions, and memo arrangements. In reality, these standard policies contain severe exclusions that leave businesses vulnerable away from their primary premises. Does your commercial property policy actually protect your inventory when it leaves the vault?

For many luxury jewellers and diamond merchants, there is a dangerous gap between what they assume their insurance covers and what standard commercial property policies actually deliver. When high-value pieces move off-premises for exhibitions, private client viewings, or overseas grading, standard property policies often terminate immediately.

Furthermore, stock received on consignment or sent out on memo frequently sits outside the scope of basic fire and theft coverage. Relying on generic protection leaves businesses exposed to significant financial risk during everyday operations.

Jade Jewellers Block is purpose-built to close these operational gaps with true origin-to-destination transit cover, entrusted goods protection, and tailored security warranties that reflect modern boutique standards.

All coverage is subject to policy schedules, terms, conditions, and underwriting approval. We invite you to review your current risk exposure with our specialist team.
